Economics

The curriculum in the economics minor is designed to provide our students with an understanding of the US economics systems of production and distribution with an emphasis on the political and social context of economics.

Minor

| EC 251            | Macroeconomics Principles                         | 3  |
|-------------------|---|----|
| EC 252            | Microeconomic Principles                          | 3  |
| EC 366            | Money and Banking <sup>2</sup>                    | 3  |
| EC 376            | International Economics <sup>1</sup>              | 3  |
| BA 270            | Business Statistics                               | 3  |
| Select two of the | following:  | 6  |
| BA 344            | Investments <sup>1</sup>                          |    |
| BK 321            | Marketing Research <sup>1</sup>                   |    |
| BN 364            | Production & Operations Management                |    |
| BN 360            | Business & Society <sup>1</sup>                   |    |
| PO 111            | Introduction To American Politics                 |    |
| PO 112            | Globalization and Human Survival                  |    |
| PO 312            | Politics of International Economic Relations      |    |
| PO 326            | Politics and Public Policy                        |    |
| PO 353            | Politics and Economic Policy in the United States |    |
| Total Hours       |   | 21 |

<sup>1</sup> Can NOT double count these courses for the management, marketing, or business majors or the finance major or minor.

<sup>2</sup> Cannot double count for management or business majors but does double count for the finance major or minor..