

Doctor of Nursing Practice - Family Nurse Practitioner

Nurses will acquire advanced knowledge and skills in nursing practice and processes in order to practice as a nurse practitioner. Students will reflect and act on the impact advanced practice nursing has on the health care delivery system and the lives of clients and communities.

Graduates will be prepared to take the family nurse practitioner certification exam and then practice to provide primary care and expertise in the holistic care of all populations.

A full description of this program will be included in a mid-year catalog addendum.

See the MSN section (<http://catalog.mtmercy.edu/archives/2017-18/graduateprograms/curriculum/msn>) of this Catalog for more information on the Master of Science in Nursing.